TRAVEL TRAILERS & FIFTH WHEELS

Jay Series 3050 RK, Fifth Wheel

3500 FS Travel Trailer, Brown Decor

JAY SERIES™

Great news, RVers! These are your kind of travel trailers and fifth wheels! Why?

... Because you love being free to go where you will, when you will — but you want much more than “The Basics” ...

... Because you want stylish, practical, comfortable accommodations: a taste of real luxury — without the “luxury” price-tag ...

... And because Jayco builds the Jay Series™ to the industry's finest standards — standards that have served RVers well and have continued to satisfy their changing needs for 25 years.

The Jay Series is Jayco's mid-line of RVs. To look at them, though, is to realize that it's only their price that's mid-line. Everything else about them says high-line all the way!

There are plenty of floor plans to choose from, too — with models available in lengths from 26-1/2 feet to 35 feet. So there's sure to be something for everyone, whatever their tastes, whatever their lifestyle!

CONSTRUCTION

A big part of the Jay Series' appeal is that it's built to endure. Of course, that's a Jayco hallmark — reflecting 25 years of design and engineering excellence. It's also your assurance that, year after year, your Jay Series will remain the perfect home base for all your travel and recreation activities.

The following construction features bear this out:

1. A heavy-gauge steel frame.
2. Numerous steel outriggers for wall-to-wall floor support.
3. A 2x3 longitudinal floor system — with joists running lengthwise on edge and cross-pieces to provide extra stability.
4. In-floor ducted heating.
5. Solid 5/8"-thick plywood floor decking with tongue-and-groove seams.
6. An underbelly of tough, puncture-and-tear-resistant Darco® — much stronger and lighter than aluminum.
7. Walls with 2x2 studs on 16" centers in most areas for greater strength and rigidity.
8. 2x3s all around doors, to maintain the integrity of the sidewalls.
9. 2x3s across the tops of all windows for extra reinforcement.
10. A heavy-duty aluminum outer skin — thicker at mid- and lower-wall (.024" compared to .019" at the top), so it's more dent-and scratch-resistant where it's most likely to need that extra protection.
11. Sidewalls with radius corners at the top and a radius-wraparound bottom edge — both of which make for a truly great-looking exterior!
12. Walls mounted on top of the floor instead of being screwed to the outer edge. Thus, in a Jay Series RV, the floor, not the screws, supports all of the weight.
13. Insulated wheel wells of galvanized steel, for strength and rust-resistance.
14. Strong 2x4 roof rafters, tapered to provide a slope for proper water runoff.
15. Superior fiberglass insulation throughout the roof, walls, and floor — helps make Jay Series RVs ideal for year-round use.
16. Insulation carefully cut and glued between studs to keep it firmly in place for the life of the RV.
